

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2
3 A transformable toy with which children play, wherein arms of the toy are formed
4 integrally with legs of the toy, respectively, and the arms and the legs easily pass through-holes
5 formed in a body part of the toy in such a manner that the lengths of the arms are longer than 6 those of the legs or the lengths of the legs are longer than those of the arms so that the
7 transformable animal toy can hang on an object, such as a rope or a bar, or the transformable
8 animal toy can hug another toy, thereby improving a sense of mystery thereof. The 9 transformable toy comprises a body part having an outer cover and an inner cover, and a head
10 part. The body part has through-holes longitudinally formed therethrough at both sides thereof,
11 respectively through which a respective arm and leg combination are inserted.

12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

ROZSA & CHEN LLP
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
15910 VENTURA BOULEVARD, SUITE 1601
ENCINO, CALIFORNIA 91436-2815
TELEPHONE (818) 783-0990

125;toy